This workshop is targeted toward Teacher Aids, Department of Child Safety, Disability and Education Queensland staff, funded Non Government Organisation's, Parents and Carers. The content is focused on direct support/care staff and carers and looks at Asperger's Syndrome in concrete and transferable contexts.

Staff working in accommodation services, supporting children with Asperger's will find this of particular interest.

Who is your presenter?

Mr Night has over 10 years experience working in direct support settings with children and adults experiencing an Autistic Spectrum Disorder. This has included teaching at the Brisbane Youth Detention Centre, supporting clients with extreme behaviour in secure settings at Basil Stafford and Walston Park mental health services through Disability Services Queensland. Working originally within Special Education settings and then developing and managing services with Autism Specific organizations in Queensland he brings both a professional, academic and real life approach to developing support planning for children with Asperger's Syndrome.

As the CEO of Behaviour Support Services Australia he manages and develops accommodation, respite and in-home support programs funded by Child Safety, Disability Services, Commonwealth Carer, and NGO brokered programs. He has studied special education, psychology and mental health through Griffith and the University of Queensland and is continuing his post graduate work in mental health. His particular interest is young people with extreme and complex support needs through disability, mental illness or other complex need.

Mr Night is also an adult with Asperger's Syndrome. He was recently part of a talk back program with Prof. Tony Attwood and Counsellor Rachael Harris on 96.5 FM with Peter Janetzki. You can download the Pod Cast here <http://www.96five.com/pages/content.aspx?pid=67>
